TELEGRAPHIC.

OTTAWA, July 13.

A fearful storm which commenced last evening and lasted until noon to-day has broken the telegraph wires in every direction.

Captain Geo. H. Young, secretary of the rebellion losses commission, and latterly employed in the interior department, has been appointed inspector of customs for the sixth customs district, which embraces Manitoba and the North-West Territories and also Port Arthur.

OTTAWA, July 10, 1888.

Reported that the C. P. R. will buy the Canada Atlantic railway.

A number of specialties used by manufacturers of boots and shoes, cotton, calicos and wall paper have been placed on the free list.

In the house at Washington to-day a motion to strike the free wool provisions from the Mills tariff bill was rejected. The question of free whiskey was brought squarely before the house by a proposition to repeal all internal revenue taxes on spirits distilled from grain or fruit of any kind. Motion lost.

OTTAWA, July 17.

Owen Jones, director of the Pacific Cable Co., is expected here in a few days to consult with Sanford Fleming in relation to the great cable project. Jones says the scheme meets with favor in all the colonies. H. M. S. Egeria started seven weeks ago to survey the route.

OTTAWA, July 18.

Col. Herchmer arrived here to-day on official business.

The mother country has again won the Kopare Cup, this making 14 victories against Canada's four. Last year the home majority over the Canadians was 47, this year it is only 13.

WINNIPEG, July 14.

The whole business portion of the town of Ripley, Ont., was wiped out by fire on the morning of the 13th. Very little insurance. Loss, $40,000.

The Emperor William of Germany has agreed to a proposal that his mother shall bear the titles of Empress and Queen Frederick.

A. M. Burgess, deputy minister of interior, arrived this morning from the east. He will proceed west in company with land commissioner Smith. Speaking of the appointment of the new head of his department, he said he had no knowledge that the order-in-council had been passed, but there was no doubt in his mind that Dewdney was to be the man.

Premier Floquet of France and Gen. Boulanger fought a duel on the morning of the 14th. Both were slightly wounded, although Boulanger's wound is considered dangerous. Floquet's is merely a slight scratch in the hand. Members of the ministry awaited the result of the duel at the residence of Floquet, who received a perfect ovation on his return. Only a small crowd was awaiting the return of Boulanger. Eye witnesses of the affair say Boulanger tried hard to kill his antagonist. The result is a surprise to everybody as Boulanger was considered a more expert swordsman than Floquet.

WINNIPEG, July 19.

Grafton, opposite Woodstock, N. B., is in flames and the entire village is doomed.

A gigantic murderous plot on the part of the Chicago anarchists to blow up the board of trade building and several other large buildings and to murder Judge Grinnell, Judge Gray, Insp. Bonefield and other prominent people engaged in the prosecution of the anarchists hanged last year was nipped in the bud by Inspector Bonefield to-day. Dynamite was to have been used and enough was found to blow up half the city. Three of the conspirators are already under arrest and more will follow. The fuse was to have been set off to-night.

An Indian outbreak on the Skeena river in British Columbia has just occurred. The seat of the trouble is at Hazelton, 170 miles up the Skeena river. It is doubtful whether "C" battery, which left Victoria on Saturday will be able to reach the seat of action much before the beginning of next week at the earliest. The cause of the trouble is given by Mr. Wrigley, chief commissioner of the H. B. Co., as follows: one of the Indians murdered a white settler and a posse of special constables were sent to arrest him. The Indians resisted and a scuffle ensued during which the Indian whom the officers were after was shot. Matters looked serious and the constables retreated to the Fort, where they were joined by the white settlers. The Indians demanded $1,000 and the life of a white man as recompense, and in the event of their demand not being complied with threatened to burn the Fort and murder the inmates. The demand not being complied with, a blockade, so far as understood, was commenced. One of the men of the Fort made his escape in a canoe. The news was carried to Victoria and resulted in "C" Battery being sent to the rescue.

MOOSE JAW, July 17.

A Blood Indian with an unpronounceable name was to-day arrested by Staff Sgt. McGinnis here for the murder of Chas. Paul about October of '84 near the Forks of the Red Deer. He is being taken west to-night to appear for examination before Capt. Antrobus.

CLARK'S CROSSING, July 19.

H. MITCHELL has been declared elected to the North-West legislature for St. Laurent over Geo. Fisher who had a majority of 18 votes. The Batoche, Fish Creek and Saskatoon poll books were thrown out on account of informalities, leaving Mitchell a winner by 17 majority.

The crime was a dastardly one; the victim being 72 years of age and the object $107. The Indian smashed the old man's head with an axe, then set fire to the house to cover up the deed. He crossed the range and was captured in a saloon at Missoula, 140 miles west of Helena. George was a bad egg. In the summer of '82 he shot and killed another Indian near Saddle lake, but escaped punishment on the ground that the shooting was accidental. #### CONTRACTS.

The late action of the Indian department in awarding a contract for beef required for treaty 7 to the Cochrane Ranch Company over the tender of T. C. Power & Bro. is anything but commendable, and it is to be feared is only a fair sample of the way in which the business of that department is conducted. Power & Bro. tendered at a lower price than the Cochrane company, they are an older established and quite as responsible an institution, but instead of their receiving the contract it was given to the Cochrane company at Power & Bro's. figures, the plea being that as the Cochrane was a Canadian company and willing to take the contract at the lowest tenderer's figures it was entitled to the preference. As to nationality, the fact that I. G. Baker & Co. is a United States firm has never stood in the way of its getting contracts; the Power firm has been as long in the country and has contributed as much to its material welfare as either the Baker firm or the Cochrane company. There is only one case in which the department would be justified in rejecting the lowest tender if made by a responsible firm, and awarding the contract privately, and that is if the firm putting in the lowest tender were a party to a combination to defraud the government. In all other cases where the tenders are unsatisfactory fair dealing and the public interest demand that new tenders should be called for. In the case mentioned the price was satisfactory, the firm tendering was reliable, there was no combination, there was no saving to the government and therefore there was no excuse for the department's action. When tenders are invited by public advertisement the understanding is that the invitation is in good faith and that the tender will be dealt with on business principles. When the rules of fair dealing are violated as they were in the case mentioned, the confidence of the business community in the honor of the government is shaken. Men who depend only on their prices to secure them contracts will decline to tender when the result is merely to fix a price on which other parties may fill, and the outcome will be that the contracts will either be let at higher prices than they should be or they will fall into the hands of men who depend on standing in with the government and its officials to secure them business rather than on their facilities for transacting the business. Supplying the thousands of treaty Indians in this country with meat and flour is and will be for many years a very important item of public expenditure; and if the government desire to deal fairly by their wards and also by the taxpayers of the country, they will adopt such a policy in letting contracts as will secure the confidence of honest business men. The fault is no doubt with the officials having charge of the supply department, and the presumption is that some of them at least are directly or indirectly interested in awarding the contracts to the unduly favored tenderers. If so, the men who would stoop to crooked work in the letting of contracts would if the inducements were sufficient pass over any breach of contract after it was let. An upright, high-minded commissioner would refuse to be a party to any such methods as are now pursued, and would not countenance in any way other than fair, upright dealings with the business men of the country. That a more business-like and honest system is not adopted is proof that everything is not as it should be at headquarters, either at Ottawa or Regina or both. The department should be above even the suspicion of being unfair or dishonest and set an example in their business transactions that would aid in raising, and not lowering at present, the business tone of the Northwest. As long as they violate the laws of business and fair play as they have been doing it is a public necessity that they should be severely brought to task.

The Manitoba elections which took place on the 11th, resulted as was expected in an overwhelming victory for provincial rights and honest government. Out of thirty-eight constituencies 32 went solid for Greenway, with one independent and one yet to hear from, leaving only four that went conservative. The result is one that should give extreme party men serious thought. It has clearly demonstrated that the old party cries have lost their potency in western local politics. At heart the province is conservative, as all past elections have shown, but now a liberal government has been returned and Greenway will meet the house without any practical opposition. The election cannot be called a triumph for either Greenway or the liberal party proper, but is an expression of the public mind against political corruption and dishonest government. The questions on which the government staked their existence were provincial rights and honest government, and these with the exposures of the corruption of the Norquay administration still fresh in the public memory were sufficient to sweep the country. It shows that there is no need for the people of Canada to groan under any injustice or bad government for any length of time, as they have the remedy in their own hands and can very effectually stop all abuses by voting out of power all those who are guilty of maladministration. A few more experiences such as Manitoba has passed through should teach those in authority that their tenure of power is dependent on the purity and honesty of their public acts. The weakness of the opposition in Manitoba may be a source of danger to the government by making them careless, but they should remember that the power that put them where they are is still in existence, and if directed against them would as effectually accord them a burial as it has their predecessors. When the voting power breaks loose from party bondage there is no telling where it may centre, but it is pretty safe to conclude that it will be directed towards securing good and honest government.

MONTANA LETTER.

WM. SWAN, one of the half-breeds engaged in the late North-West rebellion, now resident in Montana, was interviewed lately and gave what might be called the correct reason why many of the Batoche half-breeds remain in Montana so long in almost a destitute state. He said they were afraid to go back yet, as the government would make them pay for the damage done to the country during the rebellion. He expected Gabriel Dumont would have satisfactory arrangements made with the government; and would arrive in Montana not later than July 15th of this year to conduct the self-exiled half-breeds of Dearborn, Willow Creek, Judith Basin and Fort Assiniboine back to their homes. How these people love their country; always longing to go back! Still they value personal liberty more, and would doubtless do as they say: "Take up my gun again, boy, before they would put me in the jail. I don't like him, that kind of people, Canadians." Their faith in Gabriel Dumont is implicit. Beside his influence that of their spiritual advisers is worthless. Death has made havoc in their ranks since they came to Montana. They still hold to their estimate of the number of police and volunteers killed by the half-breeds in the various skirmishes on the Saskatchewan. They place the total at nearly 1,000, and do not like to have that number disputed. The number of their own slain is by their count but nineteen. The past two winters nearly starved them out, and many a half-breed family subsisted on sheep and cattle that had succumbed to severity of weather and scarcity of food.

The Manitoba Methodist conference was held in Portage la Prairie in the two last weeks in June. The total membership of the Methodist church in Manitoba and the North-West is 7,010 and the increase during the year has been 818. The total amount of money raised for the various connexional funds, including the missionary, contingent and other funds has been $9,656, and the total contributions for all purposes have been $37,531, an increase as compared with the total for last year of $22,003. A proposition to start a connexional weekly is under consideration. A number of the missions have become self sustaining. In Alberta and Saskatchewan both funds and membership show a satisfactory increase. A report from the British Columbia conference charged that the federal government blue books contained unjust reflections on the missionaries of the Methodist church on the north-west coast of British Columbia. The report further disapproved of the policy of the government towards the Indians, condemned the partiality which preferred one church to another, complained of the attempt of the government officials to cast the blame of their iniquitous policy on the missionaries of the Methodist church and asked for an investigation by the general board of missions. Rev. John McDougall said the Methodists had to impeach themselves for lethargy in the past in regard to their rights. Rev. J. F. Betts said it was time that the church should wake up, and no longer play the milk and water policy of not touching politics, but press for its rights. The missionaries at the various stations in Northern Alberta remain unchanged, except that J. W. Dickinson has been appointed to Red Deer.

At the annual meeting of the H. B. Co. held lately in London trade was reported unsatisfactory. The decline in prices from the sales of '87 to those of '88 was as follows: Beaver 17½ per cent., bear 20, fisher 10, cross fox 20, silver fox 30, red fox 5, white fox 40, lynx 15, marten 25, mink 20, wolf 60, wolverine 30. The price of marten is lower now than ever before, and mink within a fraction of its lowest point. Mention was made of a scarcity of food in some of the northern districts, causing distress among the natives. The government has been informed of the facts with a view to securing their attention. No dividend was declared. Receipts on account of land during the year were £32,729 as compared with £28,666 in the preceding year. The balance to the credit of the land account is now £18,136. During the year seven town lots were sold in Winnipeg for $3,200 and 66 lots in other towns for $4,806. Farm lands in Manitoba and the North West to the amount of 2,437 acres were sold for $52,235, and in British Columbia to the amount of 187 acres for $5,850. Total amount of sales during the year $66,099. The company are not desirous of making any exceptional effort to press the immediate sale of their own lands, so long as large areas of free government land remain unoccupied.

The British Columbia government has offered the imperial government to take over fifty Scottish crofter families by way of experiment on condition of £120 being advanced to each family. The intention is to form a fishing village on the Columbian coast at some point where agricultural employment could be found as well. Alex. Kerr is in London to forward the scheme.

The Truth is the name of a weekly paper started lately at Donald, B. C. It is the same size as the BULLETIN, but is eight instead of four pages. Its mechanical get up is excellent and its reading matter most interesting and well presented. Subscription, $3 a year.
